Delegate feedback from the “Enabling 21st century parents: Understanding family and community relationships” event on Thursday 23 March 2017

- “Excellent combination of informed theory, down to earth practice, and genuine passion. I was very impressed”.
- “It is hugely encouraging and inspiring to find so much diverse and high quality work being done to support families”.
- “The talks all contributed to our understanding of the needs of parents and babies. This information would help all parents and practitioners”.
- “I felt privileged to get the opportunity to listen to world class speakers at the cutting edge of research and practice”.
- “Expert knowledge, new ideas for supporting parents, encouraging networking, contagious energy from all those in the room, as I work in a very old fashioned medicalised environment”.
- “Astounding research. Will be able to utilise this in my practice”.
- “I LOVED the variety of speakers/areas covered from 'hard' science to Policies/projects, from mindfulness to hearing about practical methods in Touchpoints. I thoroughly enjoyed the day and would love the same kind of variety in the future. Thank you so much”.
- “I would be happy with something similar intermittently just to update on relevant research and clinical work with babies/young children going on around the UK/world”.
- “Repeat this meeting next year”.
