Dear Members, Colleagues and Friends,
We are delighted to invite you to attend the 2017 Section of Surgery meeting of the Royal Society of Medicine (RSM) President’s day being jointly held with the Cardiff China Medical Collaborative (CCMRC).
Please join us on Friday 29th September, for what promises to be a fascinating event. This year we are pleased to be in Cardiff, the beautiful and historic capital of Wales.

The theme for this years’ meeting is successes and challenges of cancer care in Wales.

Information and registration for the RSM website https://www.rsm.ac.uk/events/events-listing/2016-2017/sections/surgery-section/suh06-presidents-day-in-cardiff.aspx

This meeting will explore how the medical professions, scientists and politicians work together. Key topics include cancer vaccination, intestinal failure and advances in vascular surgery. The day will be a chance to hear a mix of scientific and clinical presentations which demonstrate the value of working together across specialties, disciplines and with partners at home and abroad. The meeting will finish with a dinner in the Marble Hall where you can enjoy an optional evening of fabulous Welsh food and music.

This year we are proud to introduce the CCMRC BASIC AND TRANSLATIONAL SCIENCE SHORT PAPERS PRIZE for ECR, scientists and scholars-in-training.
