The Appointed Day, July 5th 1948: An exhibition at the Library of the Royal Society of Medicine to mark 70 years of the NHS.

“I beg to move that this House takes note that the appointed day for the National Health Service has been fixed for July 5th; welcomes the coming into force on that date of this measure which offers to all sections of the community comprehensive medical care and treatment and lays for the first time a sound foundation for the health of the people; and is satisfied that the conditions under which all the professions concerned are invited to participate are generous and fully in accord with their traditional freedom and dignity.”

WAR AND THE MEDICAL SERVICES

What is happening to the people’s health

This pamphlet is the work of the Joint Medical Socialist Committee. The Committee, consisting of members of the Socialist Medical Association, Left Book Club Medical Group and University Labour Federation, was formed at the outbreak of war to coordinate the activity of various medical socialist bodies and to study the new conditions resulting from the war. Detailed statistics relative to the present situation are not available. The reports on which our conclusions are based were derived from individual letters and statements. Those quoted are believed to be representative. Enquiries and applications for further copies of this pamphlet should be addressed to the Secretary, Joint Medical Socialist Committee, University Labour Club, 15 Percy Street, W.1.
